There are many different techniques that can be used to persuade people. Some of the most effective techniques include:

1. Using positive language. People are more likely to be persuaded by messages that are positive and upbeat. Avoid using negative language, such as "don't" or "can't." Instead, focus on the benefits of what you're trying to persuade them to do. For example, instead of saying "Don't smoke," say "Quitting smoking will improve your health and save you money."
2. Building rapport. Rapport is a relationship of trust and understanding. When you have rapport with someone, they are more likely to be open to your suggestions. You can build rapport by being friendly, empathetic, and genuine.
3. Using body language. Your body language can communicate a lot about you, even if you don't say anything. Make sure your body language is open and inviting. Stand up straight, make eye contact, and smile.
4. Using tone of voice. Your tone of voice can also convey a lot of information. Speak in a clear, confident voice. Avoid using a monotone or a whiny voice.
5. Using hypnotic language patterns. Hypnotic language patterns are specific phrases that can bypass the conscious mind and implant suggestions directly into the subconscious mind. For example, you could say something like "You will feel relaxed and calm after you listen to this recording."

Persuasion is a powerful skill that can be used to achieve a variety of goals. By using the techniques described above, you can increase your ability to persuade people and get them to do what you want.

Here are some additional tips for persuading people:

- Be clear and concise. When you're trying to persuade someone, it's important to be clear and concise. Don't ramble on or get sidetracked. Stick to the point and make your arguments in a logical way.
- Be credible. People are more likely to be persuaded by someone they trust. Make sure you're credible by being honest, ethical, and knowledgeable.
- Be passionate. If you're not passionate about what you're trying to persuade someone to do, they're not likely to be either. Show your passion by being enthusiastic and animated.
- Be patient. Persuasion takes time. Don't expect someone to change their mind overnight. Be patient and persistent, and eventually you will be able to persuade them.

Persuasion is a powerful tool that can be used to achieve great things. By following the tips above, you can increase your ability to persuade people and get them to do what you want.
